

TRUE^{NTH}

A MOVEMBER INITIATIVE

A photograph of two elderly men with grey hair, smiling and looking at a tablet computer together. They are outdoors, with a blurred background of green and yellow foliage, suggesting a park or garden setting. The man on the left is wearing a blue jacket over a plaid shirt, and the man on the right is wearing a dark blue jacket over a blue shirt and a grey sweater. The tablet is held by the man on the right, and both are pointing at the screen.

Get one-on-one support from a Peer Navigator who has been through prostate cancer.

Join a research study on peer navigation.

peernavigation.truenth.ca

TrueNTH Peer Navigation

TrueNTH (“True North”) Peer Navigation connects you with a Peer Navigator who has experienced prostate cancer and is trained to guide you through your journey.

- Talk to someone about their real experiences
- Receive practical, informational and emotional support
- Find ways to overcome barriers to your care and recovery
- Feel empowered, supported and reassured

Available for patients or their partners/caregivers.

To register for this program, visit:
peernavigation.truenth.ca

For more information, contact the Program Coordinator at: 604-827-1831 or peer.navigation@ubc.ca

This program is being offered as part of a research study. Note that the security of e-mail is not guaranteed.

Principal Investigator: Dr. Arminée Kazanjian, UBC School of Population and Public Health

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO